Darren Strong from Strong Chiropractic, announces a new, sophisticated computerized decompression table that allows the spine to be gently stretched and relaxed for spinal decompression therapy.

The pattern of alternating pulling and relaxing creates vacuum-like pressure which allows disc material that was herniated or protruded to be pulled back in the disc over time.

Patients will notice a reduction of their pain during these treatment sessions. Stop in today and ask about the new table and how you can benefit.

Keeping Church Pipe Organ's alive in Cape Breton

As each year passes we all see a change in everything around us. The biggest one I'm seeing is in Churches. Churches are demising in numbers and are forced to close their doors, which is an awful shame. If you stop for a moment and visualize the inside of these beautiful churches you will probably remember the sound of a pipe organ and a choir singing the old familiar hymns that we grew up to. In today's society going to church isn't a priority with a lot of families. Hockey and many other sports take priority over going to church to hear the word God, but people will tell you that they believe in God. One of the things I love about going to church is that it gives me a feeling of inner peace and to hear an organ playing beautiful music is a real bonus. A lot of these old churches have organs that were purchased many years ago and to replace them today it would be too costly, so we have to keep them preserved as best we can. St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church here in Sydney Mines has a Casavant organ which has been in the church for many years. If anything major was to happen to that organ, the congregation wouldn't be able to afford to replace it. That is why preserving it by doing regular maintenance each year is so important.

Pipe organs not only need to be played but they need tender loving care no different than your car needs regular maintenance. As I was watching the evening news about a year ago I saw an article about this gentleman Colin Walsh who owns Acadia Pipe Organs and has a workshop in Terance Bay, NS. The news article was so interesting I just knew I had to contact this man to see if I could get him to come to Cape Breton to look at our church organ. A week ago I had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Colin Walsh and was very impressed with his knowledge and years of tuning and restoring pipe organs. Colin began his pipe organ building career in 1977, at the age of 14, by serving a full, formal apprenticeship in Dublin, Ireland. He then immigrated to Nova Scotia in 1981 as a journeyman organ-builder. There he continued in his craft, building and restoring pipe organs throughout Atlantic Canada. In 1985, Colin moved to Pennsylvania where he continued his work in organ-building. In 1995, he founded his own business to continue and further the high standards of craftsmanship and artisan work in building and restoring fine musical instruments. In 2016, Colin returned to Halifax, to establish Acadia Pipe Organs Ltd., dedicated to the preservation of pipe organs in Atlantic Canada. Acadia Pipe Organs was started as a full service organ building and restoration business to address the needs of communities and to ensure the continued availability of highly qualified and dedicated artisans to curate and care for the precious and unique instruments of Atlantic Canada. Not only does this company tune, restore and build organs, etc. they also have an apprentice program to train young people the skills, knowledge and appreciation necessary in the art of organ building and tuning. As Mr. Walsh explained to me, these precious instruments need the right person to take care of them and if you don't have that then things can be overlooked and then before you know it, you have a much bigger problem. He told me that he works on all types of organs and gets so much pleasure seeing these instruments come back to life when they are properly maintained and played. He also told me that he has disassembled three pipe organs and reassembled them in different churches here in Nova Scotia.

There are a lot of churches here in Cape Breton with organs of different types and after meeting Mr. Walsh, I highly recommend him to anyone. There is only one other person I've met that has such a passion and that special touch for church organs and that was Jean Francois Mailhot who passed away suddenly two years ago. After meeting Colin Walsh, he is the man any church or business would want to maintain their pipe organ or any type of organ. This man is amazing with his knowledge; experience and tender care of the inner most workings of any organ. Mr. Walsh told me that he has heard about the beautiful organs here in Cape Breton and would love to come, meet the people who play them and to be able to service them. He can be contacted at cmwalsh@acadiapipeorgans.com and also check out their website at www.acadiapipeorgans.com you won't be disappointed. If you have a church pipe organ Colin Walsh of Acadia Pipe Organs is the man you would want to maintain it hands down.

THE MONSTER MASH

Every Halloween at our house, we decorated for Halloween with the usual ghosts, witches and spider webs and carved pumpkin. While decorating, we always played the song "Monster Mash" on the record player. Below is the history of that enduring song we thought might make an interesting Halloween story.

Bobby (Boris) Pickett was an aspiring actor who sang with a band called the Cordials at night, while going to auditions during the day.

One night, while performing with his band, Pickett did a monologue in imitation of horror movie actor Boris Karloff while performing the Diamonds' "Little Darlin'". The audience loved it, and fellow band member Lenny Capizzi encouraged Pickett to do more with the Karloff imitation.

Pickett and Capizzi composed "Monster Mash" and recorded it with Gary S. Paxton, pianist Leon Russell, Johnny MacRae, Rickie Page, and Terry Berg, credited as "The Crypt-Kickers". (Mel Taylor, drummer for the Ventures, is sometimes credited with playing on the record as well, while Russell, who arrived late for the session, appears on the single's B-side, "Monster Mash Party".

The song was partially inspired by Paxton's earlier novelty hit "Alley Oop", as well as by the Mashed Potato dance craze of the era. A variation on the Mashed Potato was danced to "Monster Mash", in which the footwork was the same but Frankenstein-style monster gestures were made with the arms and hands.

The producers made extensive use of sound effects in the recording; the sound of a coffin opening was imitated by a rusty nail being pulled out of a board.

The sound of a cauldron bubbling was simulated by water being bubbled through a straw, and the chains rattling were simply chains being dropped on a tile floor.

The song went on to be a top 10 Billboard hit in three decades - 1960, 1970 and 1980. That's a pretty good track record for a novelty song written as a Halloween prank.

I was originally writing about another topic as a lead-in for All Hallows Eve in 4 days time, but I had a last minute chance to see the latest instalment in the "Halloween" movie franchise- "Halloween Kills". With all the hype surrounding this new release expectations were high- including my own. Was that deserved? NOPE. Director David Gordon and Jamie Lee Curtis should be as embarrassed as hell for dropping this stinking piece of crap on us. There was a bit of promise in the story as a bunch of survivors got together on Halloween night to commemorate the 40 year mark of Michael Myers arrest and imprisonment. I thought that Anthony Michael Hall did a good acting job as one of the surviving kids- but even he got "axed" by Michael in a lame ass way. That's another sore point for me- trying to get us to 'drink the kool-aid' that Michael has super-human survival skills, ones that make The Terminator look like Mr. Rogers? It gets to the point where you just say "come on already". Michael Myers is now nothing more than a comedic costume for kids to wear on October 31st. It must have been one hell of a payday for Jamie Lee Curtis to sign on and play nothing more than a caricature of her former scream queen self (and don't get me wrong- I like her a lot but she has done many roles that were so much better than this paint-by-numbers version of Laurie Strode). With this being movie number 12 in the "Halloween" franchise the thoughts of a baker's dozen is more horrifying than anything they can put on the screen relating to Mr. Myers. Some may like this movie but I know that others like myself did not. The phrase "jumped the shark" refers to an episode of "Happy Days" where Fonzie jumped over a great white shark on a motorcycle- it meant that the show had crossed the line with viewers, past its high-water mark and everything that came afterwards was crap. I'm not sure exactly where that happened in the "Halloween" franchise but this latest offering smells worse than that shark if it was lying dead on a beach for 2 months in August. I took more enjoyment in hearing the end credit song "Hunter's Moon" by the band Ghost. They should have called this "Halloween Sucks".

Join The Conversation About Hope And The Future Of The Northside

Join us for a two-part series presented by Invictus Research Lead, Dr. Ed Michalik at the John J. Nugent Firemen's Centre, Elliot Street, Sydney Mines.

Over the past two years, Northside Rising has supported a team of researchers to explore the state of hope, agency and trust on the Northside.

502 surveys, 41 in-depth interviews, and 2 resident research review sessions later, come hear what we have learned and join the conversation about the role that HOPE can play in building the future we want for the Northside.

Watch a recording of our recent Virtual Coffeehouse discussion with Ed and others to get a taste of the project and what to expect next week here.

At 6 pm on October 26th and October 27th, we will hear Ed's take on Northside data on substance use, income, hope, trust, and community connection. We want to hear what you think about the findings & talk about what to do next!

Anti-Poverty Conference @ CBU October 28 & 29

Cape Breton University and some of its community partners are pleased to invite you to participate in their first-ever anti-poverty conference, Communities Building Hope; An Action Agenda to Reduce Poverty on Cape Breton Island.

The conference will feature the inaugural Dr. Margaret Dechman Lecture with keynote speaker, Gaynor Watson-Creed, a public-health specialist physician and passionate advocate for the role of public health in advancing health equity.

This conference will be a "blended" event (offered in-person and virtually) on Thursday and Friday, October 28th and 29th, 2021.

This dialogue is an important one, and we hope for a beginning discussion of many more. Together we CAN change the face of poverty impacting our Island and build a better tomorrow.

A Cold Day for the Coalition Launch, but lots of Warm Hearts & Bellies!

We were so happy to see 60 or so community members come out to the Northside Community Coalition Launch event on October 8th. The harvest soup (made from donations from the Food Hub and Thyme for Ewe Farm and prepared by Richie from Lobster Pound and Moore) and the hot drinks donated by Tim Hortons also helped to keep us warm :)

We are grateful to Michael Cavanaugh, who donated his time and talent on the stage. CBRM lined up the tent, tables, chairs and more. Sobey's donated rolls to go with the soup. Door prize donations came from D'Theatre Korean BBQ, Thyme Savour, and Serein Salon. Lots of food and cash donations to the North Sydney Food Bank were raised and we got to shine a light on the new location and the great work of Lawrence Shebib and others at the NSFB.

Interested in becoming involved or hearing more about the coalition? Email: jnelson@northsiderising.ca

AROUND THE TOWN

Halloween is here again I remember fondly the excitement we had as kids as the day approached. Back in those days, we had a variety of fireworks and “double wickers” which were convenient to blow up mailboxes and such - it’s a wonder we survived without serious injury.... Halloween is much more civilized today with emphasis on costumes and candies.... There is a Halloween Dance at the North Sydney Firemens Club on October 30th with prizes for 1st, 2nd and 3rd.... a reminder that Washer Toss is back at the Florence Legion on Friday nights, starting at 7.00 p.m. - open to the public.... Boularderie Island Seniors are back again with cooking classes and guest speakers and lunch II events will take place at the Big Bras d’Or Hall - all events are free - see page 2 for class details.... An Evening of Cape Breton Writers & Music - Saturday, November 13 - from 6 - 9:30 PM - at the Big Bras D’or Fire Hall - 1390 Old Route 5, Big Bras d’Or - see page 3 for program details.... In keeping with the Halloween theme, we have the behind the scenes story about one of our favorite Halloween songs “The Monster Mash” and K-LEE RADIO has added 5 spooky tales to download free from their website - With Remembrance Day fast approaching, please wear a poppy to honor our Veterans and support your local Legion financially... this week’s Paul Power column features a review of the movie “Halloween Kills” on page 6 of this edition.... Northside Rising has completed a program on what the Northside needs for future growth - Join us for a two-part series presented by Invictus Research Lead, Dr. Ed Michalik at the John J. Nugent Firemen's Centre, Elliot Street, Sydney Mines - see page 7 for detailed information on the two sessions to be held.... The popular A & K Lick A Chick in Bras d’Or will close October 30th - Til next week, Stay Safe and please watch for young trick or treaters this Halloween - FREE PUBLICITY - If your group or organization is planning an upcoming community event and want some free publicity, simply email us with your information and we’ll publish it free of charge - just send us your information to us at this email address - thisweek@kleeradio.com
