NEW DECOMPRESSION TABLE RELIEVES PAIN

Darren Strong from Strong Chiropractic, announces
a new, sophisticated computerized decompression
table that allows the spine to be gently stretched and relaxed for spinal decompression therapy.

The pattern of alternating pulling and relaxing creates vacuum-like pressure which allows disc material that was herniated or protruded to be pulled back in the disc over time.

Patients will notice a reduction of their pain during these treatment sessions. Stop in today and ask about the new
table and how you can benefit.

Sometimes the hype around a movie can be a bad thing-especially when that hype is all 'sizzle and no steak'. I experienced that recently after watching 2 movies that I really wanted to catch ever since I saw their trailers. The first was "Jurassic Park Dominion". I am usually a huge fan of the Jurassic Park films but when this movie ends up being more like a James Bond dinosaur car chase through a European city one it makes me think that the creative department was asleep at the wheel. Granted, there are some good parts in the film, such as a new take on cloning, and I do like Chris Pratt and Bryce Dallas Howard's acting, of course ditto for Jeff Goldblum, Laura Dern and Sam Neill. But when all is said and done, to me this is the weakest film in the franchise so far, and it did get a lot of bad reviews and negative press. The second disappointment was much bigger; I was really pumped up to see "The Black Phone", expecting something close to what the trailer led me to expect. What I got was a big build-up and a big letdown. Ethan Hawke is indeed a remarkable actor, but in this flick he's masked 99% of the time, granted those masks are truly worthy of a serial killer's horrific image-one known as "The Grabber" as he lures and grabs young boys off the street, who are never seen again. Hawke does indeed score a 100 on the creepy scale for this role, as he usually plays the good guy, so kudos to him for that. The production budget was only around 17 million dollars, which is modest for a big studio production, and it has grossed over 130 million dollars thus far, so it's a huge success. Not for me though, I personally found it a major letdown. Obviously a lot of people out there liked it, so I would never encourage a person to NOT see a film based on what they read in a review. To each his own. You might actually like both of these films.

In little corner of heaven nestled amongst a cloud, a game is in progress played by men who stand proud. Lineup so familiar of Gherig, Ruth and Cobb, played against the angels in God's rustic ole ball yard. Jackie, Mel, Conig. still Big Three followed by Bill, Case Roger, Damn Yanks now loved you see.

Nobody loses in heaven, every game a tie, Jocko Conlan relaxes in bleachers home in heaven high.

Listen all you baseball jocks, when your time has come, heavens fences shorter conceivable 401. But home plate being much wider pitchers dream come true your batting average 401 may be a 202.
