Year Of The Garden

The Cape Breton District Garden Clubs invite you to celebrate the "Year of the Garden" on June 18th, 1:30-3:30, at the Sydney Riverview Y Service Club on Westmount Road. Clubs will have displays, information and demos on a variety of garden topics.

Some giveaways, tea and cake, no admission. All are Welcome. "Live the Garden Life"

To all the School administrators, janitors, bus drivers, teachers, and cafeteria staff who have looked after the children for the entire year during a challenging time - Summer vacation is coming and we hope you enjoy your time off - Thank You for your dedication and service.

Happy Father's Day to all our dads - past and present, for all you do, all year long.

GRAND OPENING HALEY STREET ADULT SERVICES CENTRE - JUNE 17 - 2:00 - 4:00

- PHOTO CREDIT - CHRIS CONNORS, CAPE BRETON POST

The Grand Opening of the new Building at Haley Street will take place this Friday, June 17th from 2:00 pm till 4:00 pm on Muir Street, in the Haley Room - all are welcome - there will be sandwiches, tea or coffee.

The new building was built with assistance from the Nova Scotia government after a devastating fire destroyed the original workshop building.

This week's column is about something that's absolutely rotten! To be more precise, Johnny Rotten and his partners in crime known as the Sex Pistols. This year marks 45 years since the release of the band's only album, and "Never Mind The Bollocks Here's the Sex Pistols" is one of the most influential albums in music history. How can I say that? Well, the album featured the song "God Save The Queen" which holds the record (no pun intended) for being the most banned song in U.K. history. Plus, the song led to rioting in the streets, violent attacks on the band members, and public outrage the likes of which Britain had never seen before. The album and the band's chaotic live performances also blew up the whole punk rock movement-giving it the collective kick up the arse it needed to fan the flames of anarchy and dissent, and inspired countless musicians and bands that went on to great success and fame long after the Pistols imploded. When the single "God Save The Queen" was released the number 1 song on the charts at the time was Rod Stewart's "I Don't Want To Talk About It". However, the Sex Pistols were kicking Rod the Mod's butt in sales, yet their song was blocked from scoring the well-deserved number 1 spot, as many conspired and colluded to censor and suppress that success, fearful that it would inflame more dissent, and the establishment couldn't let those 'degenerate punkers' become even more famous than they were. We all know how that backfired! The album itself did finally get the number 1 spot on the U.K. charts and has been described by learned musicologists as the most important punk album ever made. The Sex Pistols were indeed created by the Svengali-like shyster Malcolm McLaren, who was influenced by Americans the Ramones, the New York Dolls (who he managed for a time) and Richard Hell. The fact that half of the Pistols had dubious musical skills didn't matter-it was all about the look, the shock factor and that somebody had to rage against conformity, all that gave us a legendary band and a legendary album.

A FATHER'S DAY GIFT STORY

I thought I'd tell you a little story about Father's Day and the logic that a young boy would use when buying a present for his father. One small boy, who lived in the Ashby area of Sydney, wanted to earn his own money by doing various chores and errands for the neighbours so that he could buy his father a present for Father's Day.

With the money saved by these various jobs, the boy searched for that special gift for his father but, with a limited amount of cash, all the gifts he wanted to buy cost more than he had earned. Finally the young man decided to go to what was referred to then as a "White Elephant Sale", what we call a flea market today.

The young boy searched diligently and finally settled on a book since his father was a reader. He saw that the pages were gold leaf and shiny and the cover was like leather.

He proudly paid for the book with his money and went home and even wrapped the package himself.

The book was a big hit on Father's Day and his father showed the book to all the visitors and they all smiled and laughed each time. It was not till many years later than the young innocent boy found out the book was a sex manual.
