NEW DECOMPRESSION TABLE RELIEVES PAIN

Darren Strong from Strong Chiropractic, announces a new, sophisticated computerized decompression table that allows the spine to be gently stretched and relaxed for spinal decompression therapy.

The pattern of alternating pulling and relaxing creates vacuum-like pressure which allows disc material that was herniated or protruded to be pulled back in the disc over time.

Patients will notice a reduction of their pain during these treatment sessions. Stop in today and ask about the new table and how you can benefit.

Take 2

PAUL POWER

Jake Gyllenhaal is probably my favourite actor, and ever since seeing him in "October Sky" in 1999 I have followed his career- and every film he's done since just reaffirms my choice. Jake's recent films have been super-intense and great examples of his acting skills; "Guilty", "Ambulance" and "Spider Man-No Way Home" are fantastic, but this year's "The Covenant" takes the cake. The film tells the true story of a US Army Master Sergeant who's life is miraculously saved by his Afghani interpreter, and how after being sent state-side to recover the sergeant is determined beyond all obstacles to go back to Afghanistan and save the interpreter and his family-who by now are at the top of the Taliban hit list. Gyllenhaal has done quite a few military and police oriented roles before, and this portrayal is his best yet. On the flip-side, I would also like to recommend a movie where Jake is the polar opposite of a hero; in

"Nightcrawler" Gyllenhaal portrays what has to be the creepiest lowlife of his career thus far. It's the story of how a petty thief in Los Angeles licks upon a gig as a "stringer"-a freelance journalist, photographer or in this case videographer who sells footage or edited pieces to TV networks. What I also liked about this film is that it shows just how low media outlets are willing to go for ratings-"if it bleeds it leads", and the dirty underbelly of places like TMZ, and the lowlifes that run sensational media outlets. All in all, Jake Gyllenhaal has been in the 'biz' since his acting debut in the Billy Crystal film "City Slickers" in 1991, and where his mom and dad were producers/directors it seemed to make sense that his claim to fame would come from a similar place. BTW - Maggie Gyllenhaal is Jake's sister and she is a fine actor too.

Island of Cape Breton

Our island of Cape Breton is in good hands, for our policemen are vigilant, our firemen courageous, Our Doctors Compassionate, our nurses caring, our parents protective, our teachers knowledgeable, our writers creative, Our Clergy Humble our politicians obliging, our citizens friendly, and our children respectful.

All in All I would have to say our Island is in real good hands.
