NEW DECOMPRESSION TABLE RELIEVES PAIN

Darren Strong from Strong Chiropractic, announces a new, sophisticated computerized decompression table that allows the spine to be gently stretched and relaxed for spinal decompression therapy.

The pattern of alternating pulling and relaxing creates vacuum-like pressure which allows disc material that was herniated or protruded to be pulled back in the disc over time.

Patients will notice a reduction of their pain during these treatment sessions. Stop in today and ask about the new table and how you can benefit.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Hosts The Watoto Children's Choir

Have you ever heard of the Watoto Children's Choir? Not many have heard of this beautiful group of children. The Watoto children's Choirs have travelled extensively since 1994 around the world sharing a message of hope for Africa's most vulnerable women and children that have been impacted by the AIDS/HIV virus. Almost every day of the year, this fantastic choir is performing somewhere in the world. That means thousands of people get to see their smiles and embrace their hugs and to hear their beautiful music. These children share their faith with people from all around the world and tell about the love what he has lives.

On Thursday, St. Andrew's Church, at 643 Sydney Mines, Children's Choir East Africa will concert "We Will Go". The concert will be p.m. and will last approximately 1½ hours in length. This lively and upbeat concert will have your heart bursting with joy when you see these young sweet faces singing and dancing. This concert is for the whole family, young and old alike and everyone in between.

Admission is FREE but there will be a Freewill Offering received in support of Watoto's mission for children with AIDS/HIV. So be sure to see this concert. That's Thursday, May 2nd at 6:00 p.m. at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Sydney Mines.

Take 2 with PAUL POWER

"THE KID WHO WOULD BE KING" - For this week I'm moving away from music-and back to movies, so welcome back to "Take 2". Sometimes when a film is thought of as just a "kid's movie" it gets unfairly overlooked by adults. In this case, even though the rating was PG (parental guidance suggested) this film still has a bit of a "kids" reputation to it-but it is definitely a good pick for a great night of family viewing. Of course being a modern take on the legend of King Arthur and the Knights of the Round Table one would expect the film to be set in England-and it is. The biggest departure from the legend to this tale is the fact that the King and Knights are pre-teens and teenagers. The "Kid/King" here (Alex) is played by Louis Ashbourn Serkis (the son of famous motion-capture actor Andy Serkis) and while being bullied and chased by 2 older students Alex and his best friend Bedders seek sanctuary in a construction site where they find....you guessed it...a sword stuck in a stone. Can you guess what Alex is able to do with the sword? Can you also guess what the sword is called? I knew you could. The 2 bullies soon become part of Alex's entourage as they embark on a dangerous quest. The spellbinding enchantress of the Arthurian legend is Morgana leFey. In this version she is Morgana-the sorceress/witch who wants to escape the confines of the underground prison that she was banished to hundreds of years ago-and return to destroy the last descendant of King Arthur, and take over the world. Her make-up and the ensuing effects are really good-especially her demon knights that are unleashed from the bowels of the earth to hunt down and capture our young King and his cohorts. By the way-a real life knight is featured in this film; Star Trek's Sir Patrick Stewart is in the role of legendary wizard Merlin-bringing his acting cache from the Royal Shakespeare Company to this production-and he is excellent in this role, as usual. The storyline here is legendary (couldn't resist that bad pun), the acting is really good, the effects are great-and there's just enough spine-tingling twists to keep the viewer on the edge of their seats throughout the film. This movie is definitely worth your viewing time. Enjoy!

TAX TIPS COLUMN

Do you know you can deduct medical travel expenses?

Do you travel to Antigonish, or maybe Halifax for medical treatment? If you have to travel at least 80 kilometres (one way) from your home to obtain medical services, you may be able to claim accommodation, meal, and parking expenses in addition to your transportation expenses as medical expenses.

There are conditions to qualify for the claim of course, but they are simply that substantially equivalent medical services were not available near your home; you took a reasonably direct travelling route; and it is reasonable, under the circumstances, for you to have travelled to that place for those medical services.

Also if a medical practitioner certifies in writing that you were incapable of travelling alone to obtain medical services, you can also claim the transportation and travel expenses of an attendant who accompanied you.

For meal and vehicle expenses, you can choose to use the detailed method or the simplified method for calculating meal and vehicle expenses. If you use the detailed method, you have to keep all receipts and records for your 12-month period. The simplified method allows you to claim a flat rate of $17/meal, to a maximum of $51/day (sales tax included) per person, without receipts.

To use the simplified method to determine the amount you can claim for vehicle expenses, multiply the number of kilometres by the cents/km rate from the province or territory in which the travel begins. If your travel begins in Nova Scotia, the rate is 49.5 cents per kilometre.

You must keep receipts for all accommodation expenses and you must be able to show that the amount paid for accommodation is necessary because of the distance travelled and your medical condition. Claim the amount for accommodation as shown on your receipts and keep them in case the CRA asks to see them.
