NEW DECOMPRESSION TABLE RELIEVES PAIN

Darren Strong from Strong Chiropractic, announces a new, sophisticated computerized decompression table that allows the spine to be gently stretched and relaxed for spinal decompression therapy.

The pattern of alternating pulling and relaxing creates vacuum-like pressure which allows disc material that was herniated or protruded to be pulled back in the disc over time.

Patients will notice a reduction of their pain during these treatment sessions. Stop in today and ask about the new table and how you can benefit.

Take 2 with PAUL POWER

Regular readers of this column know that I love watching movies about music- so when I heard what the premise for this movie was I thought "that's mad...I'm in!" Plus I've heard all the jokes like; "when did you go to the movies...yesterday...what did you see?...Yesterday"...I know that but what did you see?...Ugh!

So the premise for this film is as follows; we have our talented-but struggling musician Jack Malik (played by Himesh Patel) who happens to get knocked out in a cycling accident; at the same time there's a world-wide power blackout. When the power comes back on things seem completely normal. After a short hospital stay Jack's friends band together and buy him a new guitar, to replace his old one that was destroyed in the accident. Jack decides that a great guitar needs a great song, launching into "Yesterday". When his friends are gob-smacked at hearing such an incredible song for the first time they ask Jack when did he write it, after his answer that it's a Beatles song they inform him that they never heard of the Beatles. Google search after Google search tells Jack that John, Paul, George and Ringo never formed a band. So what follows is a series of performances of Beatles songs by Jack, and after recording an album of such Jack is quickly caught up in a tsunami of fame and fortune, as song after song release blows the world away. Jack wants the fame, and the money but the deceit eats away at him-more so as his profile hits ginormous proportions. There are also some great supporting actors here as well; Ed Sheeran proves that he has a great sense of humour, acting as himself, and SNL's Kate McKinnon is awesome as Ed Sheeran's whacked out manager, who is looking to "discover" the next Ed. By the way, it has been estimated that it cost as much as 10 million dollars to get rights to the Beatles songs used here (16 songs in all, so you do the math-that's a lot of green apples!). SPOILER ALERT; I am going to give a w a y something major here- John Lennon is alive and well and is portrayed in the movie by an uncredited actor who's appearance will knock your socks off. It's one of the most powerful scenes in the whole film. Rolling Stone magazine basically said that this movie missed the mark-well, Rolling Stone magazine is not what it used to be, and they are wrong. We've been lucky this year to have such incredible films as "Bohemian Rhapsody" and "Rocketman" grace our presence-and now "Yesterday" joins that club. This is a fantastic movie.
