NEW DECOMPRESSION TABLE RELIEVES PAIN

Darren Strong from Strong Chiropractic, announces a new, sophisticated computerized decompression table that allows the spine to be gently stretched and relaxed for spinal decompression therapy.

The pattern of alternating pulling and relaxing creates vacuum-like pressure which allows disc material that was herniated or protruded to be pulled back in the disc over time.

Patients will notice a reduction of their pain during these treatment sessions. Stop in today and ask about the new table and how you can benefit.

SANTA CLAUS IS A CANADIAN

Did you know that Santa Claus is a legal Canadian citizen? He sure is! Here are just a few pieces of evidence that old Saint Nick operates out of the true north strong and free!

The North Pole is not officially part of any country. Canada is set to make its official claim in 2019.

The closest year-round human settlement to the North Pole is located in Canada. The settlement of Alert, Nunavut, is about 820 kilometres from the North Pole, so Santa Claus's closest neighbours are Canadian soldiers.

And according to Canada Post, Santa has a Canadian postal code! And the full address, Santa Claus, North Pole, Canada, H0H0H0.

Santa was declared a full Canadian citizen all the way back in 2008 by Canada's Immigration Minister.

Santa was issued a Canadian passport in 2013. And don't worry, Mrs. Claus got one too!

ANNUAL POLAR BEAR DIP

There's a New Year's Day tradition in many cold, icy towns and villages that never fails to draw the curious and the crazies. I'm speaking of the annual Polar Bear Dip where normally sane and rational people don skimpy bathing suits and run into ice cold, frigid ocean water. Why do they do this? Most people say it's for a lark, others say it's to keep them from getting colds and others are just plain drunk or stupid....or both.

At any rate, it was always something our family did during the Christmas vacation. We would pile in the car all dressed in winter boots and winter jackets and head down to South Bar where the cold waters of the Atlantic Ocean waited. The area that the swimmers would enter the water was known locally as Polar Bear because even in the heat of summer the water was extremely cold.

Many people bring cameras and cheer on the brave souls and usually the local TV station and newspaper cover the event. We usually took a camera to take some pictures. This year, 1988, we had a special reason to be there. Our Uncle Ned decided to become a Polar Bear. He wasn't especially athletic and he was usually pale in the summer so we wondered why he would want to try this.

When the time came for the swimmers to go in, a starter would line the swimmers up and set off a starter pistol and they all ran and dived into the water. As I've said, Ned wasn't particularly athletically gifted so when the starter gun went off Ned surged forward but he started to slip and lose his footing. He grabbed at the nearest handhold which happened to be Nellie Pearson's butt. She retaliated with a slap that sent Ned swirling to the right. Again he grabbed for a handhold and it was the back of Sammy Dufour's swim trunks.

Down went Ned, down went Sammy's trunks. Cameras clicked, senior women hooted and Sammy turned a wonderful shade of red. By this time Ned was actually in the water still holding onto Sammy's trunks. Sammy ripped them out of his hand and put them back on. When Ned tried to stand he was paralyzed with the cold and several of the retuning Polar Bear members fell over him and ended up in a tangle of shivering bodies.

I thought my father was going to have a heart attack as he was laughing so hard. My mother had tears running down her face and Dorothy Muldoon, 96, her first time at the Polar Bear Dip remarked, "If I knew it was going to be this much fun, I'd have come a long time ago."

Uncle Ned never went back for the annual dip but we still have pictures and every once in awhile, I take them out of the album for a good laugh.

TRAIL OF WORDS

As earthly years pass on, and my shadow darkens heaven's door, It's time to write in feeble hand, my thoughts for you to store.

I'll write about our courting years, when we were young and free, Time has not dimmed our love, but filled it with memories.

I'll write about, when I asked you for your marriage hand, Your answer being yes, made me a very happy man.

I'll write about our wedding day, when you walked down the aisle with Joe,

A proud father, a friend, so reluctant to let you go.

I'll write about our first born, a son, who strengthened our union of love,

And two years later presented us with another, as we thanked Our Lord Above.

I'll write about our journey through life, and of obstacles thrown in path, with determination of a fallen fighter, rose to our feet fought back.

I'll write about our twilight years gracefully growing old, blessed with seven grandchildren happiness filling our soul.

I'll lay down my pen now, simple instrument indeed, which enabled me to share my thoughts as I travelled the road of poetry,

Leaving behind a ,Trail of Words so inspired you see, and if I lifted one Soul's Spirit it was worth it
