Food Bank Donations At Santa Parade - Saturday

Are you going to the Parade? You will need to bring some warm clothing and some FOOD of course.

Hi there, Holy Family Parish who are partnering with Foodland will be entering a float in the Sydney Mines Parade on Saturday, Nov. 18th

This has been a fast building tradition. Each year, we use our float entry to raise needed donations for the foodbank. We ask Parade watchers to bring a non-perishable food item to the parade and Foodland staff will help to collect it along the parade route.

We are sure our giant, parade-sized toys (Legos, Play-Doh, Cars and stuffed toys) will make the kids smile. But working together with good intentions for our community will make everyone smile. Thank you

NEW DECOMPRESSION TABLE RELIEVES PAIN

Darren Strong from Strong Chiropractic, announces a new, sophisticated computerized decompression table that allows the spine to be gently stretched and relaxed for spinal decompression therapy.

The pattern of alternating pulling and relaxing creates vacuum-like pressure which allows disc material that was herniated or protruded to be pulled back in the disc over time.

Patients will notice a reduction of their pain during these treatment sessions. Stop in today and ask about the new table and how you can benefit.

Park Junior High. Our home room teacher had arranged a sleigh ride for a group of boys and girls. The girls liked the idea of it and the boys were there because the girls were there.

We set off about 7:00 pm when everybody was loaded into the sleigh with hay bales all around for shelter and warmth. There were blankets provided but the boys wouldn't take them because we would look like sissies. So we braved the cold and actually it wasn't too bad as the girls were singing carols and the horses were clip clopping along and there was a little bit of snow falling.

But things were about to change. Calvin Boutilier had a sling shot with him and to spice things up a little, he decided to take a shot at the horse. He let fly with a small pellet and it hit the horse clear on the rump. The horse reared up and began to trot. The girls screamed and the boys held on for dear life. The driver did his level best to control the runaway horse.

Just as things were getting under control, the sleigh runners slipped off the path and the sleigh tipped on its side. Hay bales, girls, blankets and 1 startled teacher all went flopping to one side. Fortunately there were no injuries but everybody was shook up. The driver was able to get the horses back on the path and we continued back to the starting point at the normal pace.

The driver apologized for the horses and wondered aloud why they reared as they did. Nobody said anything but all the boys looked at Calvin. We went back to school on Monday and the story spread but of course it was enhanced by the boys to a life and death struggle for survival. But each year when our family goes for its annual sleigh ride, I keep a close watch on all the boys aboard the sleigh, looking for any telltale signs of mischief. It doesn't hurt to be careful.

THIS STORY FROM "CAPE BRETON CHRISTMAS MEMORIES"

SLEIGH BELLS RING

Christmas has always been a favorite time of year for me. I like the whole idea of Christmas, getting the tree, decorating the house, the many different foods and the Christmas carols. Another favorite thing we like to do each year as a special treat is to take a sleigh ride in the country.

The Peters family from Mira Road always had sleigh rides offered to the public. I remember one particular year, grade 9 in

BY PAUL POWER

The White Buffalo - "Darkest Darks, Lightest Lights" - It's funny how things can be sometimes-I actually heard The White Buffalo's music without even realizing who it was. Let me explain; I was a devoted fan of the television series "Sons of Anarchy", and in the final episode of the series a special song ushered in what was the greatest closing sequence in the history of television, with Jax Teller riding his bike towards his final destiny. It was so moving that even the hardest soul would be moved to tears. The song was "Come Join The Murder" (as in crows) and the singer Jake Smith (The White Buffalo).

THE WHITE BUFFALO

DARKEST DARKS, LIGHTEST LIGHTS

Briefly, Jake Smith (The White Buffalo) is an American folk rock/alt-country singer and songwriter who was born in Oregon but grew up in California, and that may explain why he is able to combine a folk/roots influenced sound with rock and roll and country so well.

This is actually The White Buffalo's sixth studio album, released last month. However, 2 singles were released in August; "Avalon" is a roots rock and roll number that really sounds like something Bob Seger would have released in the early 1980's-it is a great song. Converseley, "The Observatory" is a softly vocalized number that actually speaks volumes with its depth and meaning-especially on the touching chorus. It's songs like this that really let us hear just how gifted a performer and songwriter Jake Smith really is.

Continuing on, "Hide and Seek" has a strong honky-tonk vibe to it that propels the song into a great sing-along number, and the song "Robbery" wears a kind of bebop style and a light rockabilly groove that makes this track a lot of fun to listen to- and yes, it's about a robbery that doesn't go quite as planned. One of the best songs on the album is the full-on, over the top rock and roll number "Nightstalker Blues". It's like a musical car that's all jacked up on gasoline and Jim Beam. It's also slightly dark and oh so much fun.

Another aural treat is the song "The Heart And Soul Of The Night"; it comes across like an updated Tom Petty (RIP) song from Tom's early days, yet has all the originality and vitality that only The White Buffalo can deliver. There's also a slight tinge of Graham Parker on the vocal sound.

The album closes off with a symphonic intro to the track "I Am The Moon" and this number brings out all of what is good in The White Buffalo-music that touches the deepest parts of your soul, and it invites deep contemplation of the lyrics and the message. This album can be summed up in one word-spectacular.
