NEW DECOMPRESSION TABLE RELIEVES PAIN

Darren Strong from Strong Chiropractic, announces a new, sophisticated computerized decompression table that allows the spine to be gently stretched and relaxed for spinal decompression therapy.

The pattern of alternating pulling and relaxing creates vacuum-like pressure which allows disc material that was herniated or protruded to be pulled back in the disc over time.

Patients will notice a reduction of their pain during these treatment sessions. Stop in today and ask about the new table and how you can benefit.

EVANS AND DOHERTY ST. PATRICK'S DAY CONCERT

Has the cold freezing temperatures got you down and feeling the winter blahs? Well we have the solution for you. Come out and join us on Friday March 9th at 7 pm. at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church (643 Main Street, Sydney Mines) for a great night of Irish music with the famous Irish duo, Evans and Doherty. This most loved duo has been together performing for over 30 years.

You will hear all your old favorite Irish tunes that will get your feet a tappin' and your hands clappin'. Evans and Doherty take a lively blend of traditional, original and contemporary songs, add a liberal sprinkling of stories and humour, that allows you to sit back and enjoy these fine entertainers at their best.

This is the second year that this Irish duo has performed at St. Andrew's. Kevin Evans has performed there numerous times with Bob Quinn and friends. Evans says that St. Andrew's is the perfect venue for a quality concert due to the great acoustics and the slanted seats which provides everyone with a great view of performers.

Tickets are $25 each and can be picked up at Shoppers Drug Mart in North Sydney or Sexton's Pharmasave in Sydney Mines. Also, if you don't want to go out into the cold or if you live outside the area, just call Rita at 902-736-2508 to reserve our tickets. So save the date, that's Friday, March 9th at 7:00 p.m. at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Sydney Mines.

For this week I'm stepping away from writing about music-and stepping towards writing about movies. As some of you know my "Take 2" column is all about finding lesser known, not always mainstream, occasionally bizarre, weird or just plain wonderful eye-treats for the viewing screen of your choice.

The film "Maze"- is a true story set in 1983 and stars Tom Vaughan as the real-life Larry Marley (an IRA prisoner) who was a participant in the famous hunger strike that led to the deaths of 10 men (including Bobby Sands). When that action failed Marley was put in the new, and considered extremely secure, Maze prison. He soon comes up with a plan to break out of Maze, but in order to do so he needs to get permission from another inmate-his IRA superior, as the IRA has a paramilitary-like structure. Marley must also come up with a foolproof plan that also involves winning the trust of prison guard Gordon Close in order to gain access to the means of making the breakout possible.

(predominately Catholics) were both victims of the Northern Irish conflict -aka "The Troubles". Marley and Gordon are also prisoners in different ways; Marley by prison bars and Gordon by the bars on the security system he had to have installed in his house after an attempted hit on his family. The dilemma for each man escalates; Marley wonders if his friends' deaths in the hunger strike were all for nothing and Gordon questions his dedication to the Crown, and is it worth sacrificing his family for-as they left him after he refused to quit his job following the assassination attempt.

Even though Marley has ulterior motives for developing the friendship with Close there are times where the bond is genuine, especially when both men talk about their wives. As mentioned earlier the intensity ramps up as the day of the escape gets closer-leading to an escape that will have the viewer on the edge of their seats. The movie also has a grim look to it that touches on the estate of affairs in Belfast during that time, plus the Belfast accent really is my favourite one of all.

The movie never ever takes sides in the conflict-it just presents a lot of gray areas in a situation that to many was so black and white. This is one of the best movies I've seen in a long time. P.S.-next week I'm writing about what is considered by many to be the worst movie ever made.

The film keeps things in a historical framework but also offers a smoldering intensity and suspenseful nature for the viewer as the pieces fall together-and the plan is put into action. Another thing the film does quite well is show that Loyalists (predominately Protestants) and Republicans

TAX TIPS 2017

CAN YOU SPLIT YOUR PENSION INCOME?

Since 2007, you may split certain pension income with your spouse or common-law partner. This can be done if the following conditions are met:

- the pensioner and spouse or common-law partner must live together
- the pensioner and spouse or common-law partner are residents of Canada on December 31 of the year
- the pensioner received pension income that is eligible for the pension income tax credit

Up to 1/2 of eligible pension income may be allocated to the taxpayer's spouse when the tax returns are filed. In some cases this will result in a pension income tax credit for the transferee. No funds are actually transferred using pension splitting - it is simply a method for reducing the taxable income of one spouse by allocating income, on the tax return, to the other spouse.

Income that does not qualify as pension income for the pension income tax credit:

- Old Age Security or Canada Pension Plan benefits
- Quebec Pension Plan benefits
- death benefits
- retiring allowances
- RRSP withdrawals other than annuity payments
- payments from salary deferral arrangements, retirement compensation arrangements, employee benefit plans, or employee trusts

The transfer must be agreed to by both spouses, by filing the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) form Form T1032 Joint Election to Split Pension Income, with the tax return. Form T1032 also provides an area for input of the total amount of withholding tax deducted from the pension income of the transferor. The withholding taxes related to the transferred pension income are then transferred to the spouse, on a pro-rata basis. Thus, if 40% of the pension income is transferred to the spouse, 40% of the withholding taxes will also be transferred.
